Sensitivity Adjustment Directions

Before you begin, make sure that you notice that the travel and sensitivity screws are exactly opposite of our Boss and XTreme series release aids. To adjust, make sure that the sensitivity screw is flush (even) with the surface of the handle. Next, turn the travel screw clockwise while pulling up on the hook until the hook pops open. At this point, back out the travel screw counterclockwise 1/4 turn and the release should be at its lightest setting. To make the release stiffer, turn the sensitivity adjustment screw in (clockwise) until you reach your desired stiffness. Turning the sensitivity screw in causes the release to be stiffer and backing the screw out makes the release lighter.

WARNING: Never draw bow without an arrow! Never point your bow in an unsafe direction! Do not let go of this release at full draw. Think and act safely!
